Greetings ITP!

This is my first "Letter from the Director" since assuming the position in February. Throughout the year, our Interdisciplinary Toxicology Program continued to function well and grew in both student and mentor numbers. Soon after my appointment, Dr. Tai Guo (Biomedical Sciences, College of Veterinary Medicine) assumed the duties of Graduate Coordinator for the Program and has been instrumental for the program's reinvigorated recruitment efforts. Dr. Benjamin Parrott (Odum School of Ecology, SREL) and Dr. Anumantha Kanthasamy (CNDR/Physiology and Pharmacology, College of Veterinary Medicine) are the new members of the ITP's Executive Committee. We also had several new faculty (Xi, Richardson, Liu, Li), who joined the ITP (see the Newsletter); their addition grows the ITP mentor pool and mentorship opportunities for our students.

Following up on our return to in-person activities in 2022, in 2023, we had successful Spring Workshop and Fall Welcome Back ITP events. ITP students were able to showcase their work and enjoy time together and with their mentors. The Spring Workshop was also an opportunity to express the appreciation of Program and the Graduate School for the time and effort Dr. John Wagner, the ITP's Interim Director, put in to assure its successful functioning during trying times.

In addition to our ITP activities, UGA hosted the Annual Meeting of the Southeast Chapter of the Society of Toxicology (SESOT). Dr. Wang, as SESOT President, was the meeting organizer and the ITP, especially our valued Administrative Specialist, Wanda Darden, made sure that the meeting went smooth, which it did. This regional meeting was another opportunity for our students to hone their presentation skills and compete for awards, which they did successfully.

In 2023, seven new students joined the ITP. Notably, several of our excellent students successfully defended their dissertations (see the Newsletter) and are now showcasing the ITP in their young toxicologist careers; they have joined their ITP Alumni Fellows, which are 130+ strong!

Finally, I want to acknowledge the multi-level support that the Graduate School provides to ITP and to encourage continued active participation of every ITP member in our activities.

Sincerely,

Nick Filipov, ITP Director

Nixelay Bilyon

NEW ITP DIRECTOR ANNOUNCED

CONGRATULATIONS, DR. FILIPOV!

Following the recommendation of the Interdisciplinary Toxicology Executive committee, Dean Ron Walcott has appointed Dr. Nikolay Filipov, the new ITP director, effective February 1, 2023.

We are delighted to welcome Dr. Filipov and to see his journey from once being a graduate student in the Toxicology program to now coming full circle with his appointment as its Director.

Dr. Filipov's Key Areas of Focus are to:

- Increase the Program's national and international visibility further (IUTOX, FUTURES events, etc.)
- Facilitate efforts towards additional support for the Program, e.g., ITPhoused
 T32, by providing input into new faculty recruitment (Strategic Hires)
- Expand the footprint of the program on campus, e.g. engage faculty from the College of Engineering, to meet the increasing demands for interdisciplinary research with translational potential
- Work towards sustainable diversity efforts (e.g., targeted new assistantship)
- Listen to the ITP faculty membership and maintain diverse representation on the Executive and Admissions Committees of the Program
- Have regular interactions and consult with UGATox.

Dr. John J. Wagner Thank you!

The Interdisciplinary Toxicology Program expresses gratitude for your commitment and dedicated service as Graduate Coordinator and Program Director from May 2016 to December 2022.
